Mi, late, but winter begins to freeze up here. 11/26/07

1 [I see no reason to feel that the Yucca Mt. nuke waste project is any more acceptable now, having examined latest material. The site is far too vulnerable to natural catastrophy + no solutions offered suffice to resolve that, to start with. The waste transport system proposed is unacceptably, outrageously dangerous. Perhaps there is no safe place or method of storage of such anywhere. Mean time its dangers must be contained. First step, shut down all nuclear power. I hope you really care.
