 Once again, what to do with the by-products (waste) was obviously not thought out. When these nuclear power plants were in the planning stages and being built why was no long range thought given the the waste that would be generated? What did you think was going to happen with the waste. Furthermore, since the largest percentage of the waste that has been and will be generated is east of the Mississippi, find someplace back there for storage. If, like you are trying to convenience people of the safety you have in place, then there must be someplace back there where you can safely store all of this waste. I know that this may come as a shock to you but it would be CHEAPER AND SAFER than trucking it cross country!
