Comments: My biggest concern is not with the permanent storage in the mountain; it is the transportation of nuclear waste to and through Nevada. Nothing in the media reporting leads me to believe that sufficient attention is being given to transportation. Our great national tragedy of Sept 11, 2001 should convince any thinking person that it is not possible to anticipate every possible terrorist threat. It would not be possible to guarantee to the public, or even to re-assure the public to any degree of satisfaction, that the means of transportation and the containers that will be used are secure from interference by enemies of our country.
