Comments: To Whom It May Concern, Today I saw a map of the the Nuclear Power Plants in this country and where the waste would be coming from to be stored in Yucca Mountain. I have not, to this point, formed an opinion one way or another regarding the YMP (Yucca Mountain Project) because I know it was/is a done, a governmental/political deal, but done nonetheless. However, I feel that I cannot keep quiet now. I saw the map that graphically points out that there are no nuclear plants anywhere near Yucca Mountain. That the problem is in the east and mideast. Yet some self serving politican decided, and able to persuade others, that delivering this poison half way around the world through the heartland of our great country was a good idea. Then store it in an area that will shake rattle and roll for years and years to come, from fault activity. This whole thing is absolutely obscene. I wish I had been educated on this a long time ago. I wish that more people understood what has been shoved down their
