1 [---> Yucca Mountain seems to this geologist to be the best, and most reasonable, site for nuclear waste storage. The 100,000 (or is it a million?) year requirement against any leakage is complete nonsense. If future engineers and geologists and physicists can't handle any future problems then the nation is screwed anyway. Anything is better than thousands of barrels of waste at hundreds of sites across the nation. Our politicians are complete idiots pandering to environmental idiots. Move ahead--get the project done!] Ross Smith
