

1 [* What I heard on TV was all about money!!!! That has become the root of all evil in our country. If you've read the story of Erin Brocovitch, or saw the film, you can see how expensive this project can be years down the road because of the health consequences. When will our great US government get that?

How can we spend billions touting environmental improvement and still make such irresponsible decisions? Shame on government and big business. Do you REALLY care about your citizens' health or is it more profitable to have them sick and inflate the pockets of big drug and insurance companies? I hope you can all sleep at night after making such poor choices.]
